RESEARCH AND WORK EXPERIENCES

Educated in Architecture (BSc and MSc, Politecnico di Milano), since 2006 I have developed a research trajectory within the Urb&Com Lab, DASTU, Politecnico di Milano. My work has focused on trends, processes, and impacts related to the spatial organisation of services, retail activities, and leisure settlements. Between 2006 and 2009, I combined academic research with consultancy and expert activities, supporting several Italian public bodies (Regione Lombardia, Piemonte, Emilia-Romagna, Provincia and Comune di Milano, among others).

In 2010, I began a PhD at the Instituto Universitario de Urbanística (IUU), Universidad de Valladolid (Spain), funded through an FPI UVA–Banco Santander Fellowship (2010–2014). During this period, in collaboration with my supervisor (Prof. J. L. de las Rivas) and the research team at CASA, University College London (UK), I developed a personal approach to advanced spatial analysis. I had the opportunity to test this approach both in my doctoral dissertation and in several IUU research projects commissioned by public institutions seeking technical documents to support decision-making processes.

After completing my PhD, I held a position as Contract Professor in Urban Planning and Urban Design at the School of Architecture, Urban Planning and Construction Engineering of Politecnico di Milano, and resumed my collaboration with the DASTU department, working with Prof. A. Balducci, B. Bonfantini, P. Pucci, P. Beria, L. Tamini, among others. During this period, I also supported the activities of several visiting professors (including Prof. A. Madanipour, J. Knieling, D. Radovic, and L. Devisme) during their stays at Politecnico di Milano. In 2015–2016, I further strengthened my profile as a consultant for public bodies and policymakers, contributing to various proposals for EU programmes and actions (URBACT, Interreg, COST).

Since April 2016, I have held a Postdoctoral Fellowship funded by the Politecnico di Milano International Fellowship Programme (2016–2018), through which I carried out the research project “Clusters of central functions (CCFs) as catalysts in post-metropolitan territories: comparing the impacts of their dynamics in four European city-regions.” This work contributed to academic debates on alternative centralities through a solid quantitative approach and original spatial representations. In parallel, I supported innovations in the spatial governance practices of public actors at multiple scales. Between 2018 and 2020, I was a research fellow at DASTU-PoliMI within the project “La governance dei progetti della Città Metropolitana di Milano” (Governance of Projects in the Milan Metropolitan Authority), focused on building networks of actors and projects for territorial regeneration.

In 2021, I joined the Università degli Studi di Bergamo as a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor (RTT) in Urban Planning, where I teach in the Geourbanistica programme and in the Engineering School, and collaborate with the CST – Centro Studi sul Territorio “Lelio Pagani”. In 2023, I joined Universidad Indoamérica in Quito and Ambato (Ecuador) as a lecturer in the Maestría en Arquitectura con mención en Desarrollo Urbanístico y Ordenamiento Territorial. Since 2025, I have also taught geography courses at the University of Pavia.

Over the past fifteen years, I have authored two monographs, co-edited two books, and published several articles in international peer-reviewed journals (ORCID: 0000-0002-1129-3609). In parallel, I have organised numerous seminars and workshops addressing regional urbanisation processes and contemporary polycentric patterns in European cities. Through active participation in four major research clusters (DAStU, IUU, CASA-UCL, CST), attendance at more than fifty international conferences, engagement in international and national academic networks, and involvement in multiple EU programmes (URBACT Expert in 2015; MC Substitute in a COST Action, 2019–2020; Team member in the Horizon 2025–2029 Project), I have developed a solid academic profile characterised by a strong transnational orientation.

 - Title SEW Line. Socio-Ecological Way for a holistic mobility infrastructure planning in periurban and rural Landscape.
- Activities/Duties

The main goal of the proposal is the advancement of knowledge in the processes of mobility infrastructure planning in periurban and rural landscapes, avoiding the loss of biodiversity and ecosystem services and addresses social equity and spatial justice aspects.

To achieve the objectives, 3 dimensions of action are identified, coordinated by the various operating units involved:

 - environmental and infrastructural planning (unit 1, UNIPD), which concerns the infrastructure project and its insertion from technical, environmental and large-scale territorial point of view.
 - landscape design (unit 3, UNIROMA1), which concerns the local-scale design of the quality of places and spatial justice aspects.
 - governance of the process (unit 2, UNIBG), which concerns the relationship between territories and local stakeholders.

The methodology is composite: scientific, because it is based on consolidated evaluation methodologies; operational, because it works on 4 case studies with local actors (TAV Verona-Padua, Brennero, Brebemi, the Roman infrastructure system); and uses both quantitative and qualitative tools. The 3 different Rus will share the case studies and the different and complementary skills, to work in a synergic and collective way. Four living labs represent the cornerstone of the methodology for primary data collection.

The expected products are: a set of guidelines/handbook; a taxonomic atlas of interventions; an instrument of agreement between different stakeholders; a cybercartography as an enabling tool for governance; a dynamic web archive; a collective book; other open and inclusive dissemination materials.

 - Title Governance for a Reticular Mountain: Co-design and “Contratto d’abitare” as tools for the territorial regeneration in Alta Valle Seriana
- Activities/Duties

The project outlines a multi-level and multi-actor agenda and aims to define concrete mechanisms, programs, and actions for the mountains. It is aimed at developing new model of living, which includes actions for the concrete usability of essential services, implementation of mobility systems, connection, strengthening of infrastructures, with particular attention to the aspects of sustainability and ecological transition.

In the current perspective, the mountains are marginal areas, and we recover the figure of the mountain massif, using the Massiccio Orobico as a case study. The current syndemia produces a demand for innovative governance oriented to the interventions in the massifs. The renovated approach proposed and tested in this research includes advanced interactions with the policy community and Nature, and it should enable processes of active citizenship. Therefore, it could be essential to involve forms of co-design based on contractual procedures - even referring to the metaphorical power of the idea of “contract” - that engage inhabitants and nature. These are the stakeholders and institutional interlocutors that deal with the fragilities and the opportunities at the massif scale. Their empowerment will support the urban and territorial regeneration processes, focused on the territorial investments developed by several institutions (Comunità montane, Lombardy Region, European Union) after the Covid19 crisis.

 - Title CA18214 - The Geography of New Working Spaces and the Impact on the Periphery
- Activities/Duties

The aim of the COST Action is threefold. First, it aims to share the first outcomes of some funded international research projects on the phenomenon of new workplaces, such as Coworking Spaces and Maker Spaces. Secondly, through the comparison and dissemination of the first results of these international research activities, the Action aims at identifying, measuring and evaluating the (direct and indirect) effects of these new working spaces in order to understand whether and how they have promoted – with or without the help of public subsidies and planning measures. Thirdly, developing guidelines for tailored policy and planning measures (Tool Box) to foster the positive effects of new workplaces through the promotion of agreements and cooperation with local, regional and/or national public administrations/stakeholders, as well as to try to mitigate their negative effects on the neighbourhoods (i.e. parking shortages, noise, or increasing land rent).

- Title Systematic Approach for Inspiring & Training Energy-Spatial-Socioeconomic Sustainability to Public Authorities (INTENSSS-PA) Action
- Activities/Duties INTENSSS-PA will support public authorities to integrate the energy theme into spatial planning and regional physical and socioeconomic landscapes. To achieve this objective INTENSSS-PA will provide human and institutional capacity building to public authorities and to the wider network of private and public actors related to energy and regional planning by implementing the Living Lab concept, i.e. an innovative environment of co-creation. Specifically, a network of seven Regional Living Labs (RLL) within the seven different Countries/Regions that participate in the consortium (Thessaly-Greece, Calabria-Italy, Castilla y Leon- Spain, Association of Municipalities-Slovenia, Groningen-Netherlands, Triangle-Denmark and Zemgale-Latvia), will be created. Involving public authorities, private and civil society actors, the RLLs are focused on improving and designing a shared and integrated sustainable energy planning concept and on applying it in order to develop seven sustainable energy plans, i.e. one for each Region. The overall approach will involve learning sessions and experiential projects alongside intense networking.

- Activities/Duties TeS – Territorial effects of Services directive
 TeS Action Proposal promotes comparative research aimed at studying the spatial and territorial effects of the Services Directive (2006/123/CE, also called Bolkestein Directive) in the EU Member States. The Directive goes over the quantitative and restrictive approach in localization of Services -largely diffuse in Europe-. This positive change in terms of freedom of economic initiative gives prominence to the spatial (urban and regional) planning of service activities. The target of our network is investigating both (i) the change of strategies of the administrative level over EU Members States, and (ii) those criteria and rules –based on innovative (spatial and performative) approaches- for the settlement of Services in territory. Expected benefits will be the collection, the analysis and the diffusion of good practices, and this could be a useful base to overcome the lack of knowledge and studies in planning about the localization and the growth of Services in territory.

Organizational/managerial skills

My education and my work experience have been developed in an environment of knowledge interchange and of contamination between different professionals and cultures of planning. My experiences as a researcher, professor, tutor and visiting scholar or student, have offered me the training to be flexible and to interact, two prominent skills in this kind of situation. Recently, I had developed several individual works and managing teams with 4 or 5 people. These two different –but complementary- experiences bring me in a different dimension of the work, where the figure of the “researcher” and the “manager” co-exist and must walk together.

Computer skills

Good expertise with principal software (i.e. Office, Suite Adobe, Suite Autodesk and Macromedia). I have a strong knowledge of AutoCAD and Esri ArcGIS
